VERIFIER CAPITAL ACQUIRES RAYSIL SECURITY SYSTEMS

London, UK – 20 February, 2008 – Raysil Security Systems Limited, a Surrey-based service and installation firm, has been acquired by Verifier Capital Limited.

The acquisition expands Verifier’s investment in the UK alarm market while allowing the owners, Pete Stewart and Phil Tarrant, to liquidate their equity and remain on as Managing Directors of the Company. The continued management by Stewart and Tarrant assures that Raysil’s long standing customer base will be properly serviced well into the future, while Verifier’s capital resources bring the added benefit of expansion capabilities and growth prospects otherwise unavailable to small and medium-size security firms.

“We are very pleased to bring Raysil into the Verifier Capital portfolio while retaining the technical experience and leadership of Pete Stewart and Phil Tarrant. Verifier Capital envisions further bolt-on acquisitions in the southwest London area that fit into Raysil’s area of expertise and can be properly serviced by their growing engineering capability,” said Chris Antonio, Verifier Capital’s managing director.

“The UK security market continues to provide us with situations ideal for consolidation and retirement planning transactions.”

Raysil, with over 20 years trading history, has provided premier fire and security installation and integrated systems services to commercial and high-end residential customers between Surrey and London, and will continue to operate from its current offices in Surbiton, Surrey. Phil Tarrant and Pete Stewart will continue to apply their many years of experience in fire and security systems, while looking to utilize Verifier’s financial support to grow their customer base.
